DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9, drawn to a gateway service system, classified in class 709, subclass 217.
- II. Claim 10, drawn to a device server system, classified in class 709, subclass 244.
- III. Claim 11-14, drawn to data management, classified in class 709, subclass 223.
- IV. Claim 15-18, drawn to a home gateway system, classified in class 709, subclass 229.

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I requires

- a home gateway for managing devices owned by a user.

The subcombination has separate utility such as

- a server of an administrator connected to said home system via an external network.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I requires

- a home gateway for managing devices owned by a user.

The subcombination has separate utility such as

- registration processing section for accepting registration of personal data

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions I and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I requires

- a home gateway for managing devices owned by a user.

The subcombination has separate utility such as

- home gateway that is connectable to an external network and to one or more devices via an internal network, and manages said devices,

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I requires

- a home system for managing electric devices capable of accessing to an external network;

The subcombination has separate utility such as

- a registration processing section for accepting a registration of personal data of a user who owns a home gateway to which a plurality of Internet devices can be connected;

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions II and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I requires

- a server owned by a service implementor implementing services related to said electric devices,

The subcombination has separate utility such as

- wherein personal data of a user who owns said home gateway and device data of said devices are registered with a server of an external administrator via said home gateway and said external network.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions III and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)).

In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I requires

- a registration processing section for accepting a registration of personal data of a user who owns a home gateway to which a plurality of Internet devices can be connected;

The subcombination has separate utility such as

- wherein personal data of a user who owns said home gateway and device data of said devices are registered with a server of an external administrator via said home gateway and said external network.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application also contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

If applicant chooses Invention I the applicant must select one of the following species. Claim 1 is generic.

- I.a 1, 2
- I.b 1, 3, 4
- I.c 1, 5
- I.d 1, 6, 7
- I.e 1, 8, 9

If applicant chooses Invention III the applicant must select one of the following species. Claim 11 is generic.

- III.a 11, 12
- III.b 11, 13
- III.c 11, 14

If applicant chooses Invention IV the applicant must select one of the following species. Claim 15 is generic.

- IV.a 15, 16
- IV.b 15, 17
- IV.c 15, 18

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

A reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
